Dear Mr. Breitenbach,

While we have not had time to entirely digest such a huge document, we are responding so that some of our concerns are registered. For such a momentous decision to be made, the public should have far more opportunity to digest the comprehensive plan.

We are opposed to all three alternatives at the moment as they are described. They do not adequately address the matter of fresh water releases, the certainty of the programs of water exchanges, fishery restoration, Bay marsh restoration and health, etc. There is little consideration for drinking water quality for Bay Area residents or enforced water conservation for the entire state. Perhaps with effective conservation, additional storage will not be necessary. Until programs that address these issues are not only in place but are deemed successes, additional storage and further diversion should not even be considered. No storage or transfer projects should even be discussed without a concomitant discussion of who will pay the bills. There should certainly be a no facility alternative or one that sets all the other programs up well in advance.

Because the Bay Model has had a historic role in Bay planning issues, we encourage you to consider using the facility to demonstrate various aspects of the CalFed program both to agency participants and to the general public who will no doubt be voting on the issue eventually. We will look forward to hearing from you.

Cordially,

Gloria Duncan
